More Money For Madison County Farmers

It is the farmer who goes ahead and does things—who thinks clearly and decides wisely, who makes the real red-letter winning nowadays. And there is no better evidence of the fact that the farmers of this county are men who think, take hold and accomplish than the fact that they are taking and unusual interest in the fence question at this time. It is a big question and a vital one. A fence may be either a source of loss, annoyance, disappointment, or it may be a source of profit, protection and permanent peace of mind.

Any farmer who goes seriously into the matter will speedily find that for real reasons the American Fence stands incomparably above every other fence material offered. In service, protection to stock, weather-resisting power and long life will prove a real money-maker and money-saver to any farmer, large or small. Many weights and styles of American fence are shown at

Our Great Progress in Fifty Years.

While in 1860 the United States held a low place among the countries in most of the great interests, it has a long lead among the nations in nearly all of them today. Although it has only 5 per cent of the world's population, it produces 20 per cent of the world's wheat, 22 per cent of its gold, 30 per cent of its silver, 33 per cent of its manufactures in the aggregate, 37 per cent of its pig iron, 40 per cent of its coal, 43 per cent of its steel, 53 per cent of its copper, 60 per cent of its petroleum, 70 per cent of its cotton and 80 per cent of its corn, while it has 40 per cent of the world's railway mileage. How has this tremendous expansion in the country's activities in the past half century helped the average wage-earner, who constitutes a majority of the people? Here is one way and a very effective way, of answering this query. While the number of depositors in the savings banks of the country was 603,000 in 1860, it was 9,142,000 in 1910, and the amount of their deposits was $140,000,000 in the former year, and $4,070,000,000 in the latter.—Lealie's.

It has long been a Democratic custom in Madison county to give a second term to those officials who perform their duty well during the first term of office, and you can make no mistake by deciding to cast your vote for R. B. Terrill for re-election to the office of County Court Clerk. His record is open for the closest inspection.

"My Boy."

By request of one of our subscribers, we are publishing Edward Leigh Pell, Jr., "My Boy." Every mother and father should read and heed it.

The world has no room for a boy. He is too rough for his taste and in his awkwardness he often rubs it the wrong way. We treasure our men, our women and our girls, but we only tolerate our boys—tolerate them with the hope that they will soon cease to be boys.

But a boy is like a coconut brought to us fresh from the tree, enveloped in its great shaggy covering. The goodness is all within, and you must crack its very heart to find it. You never know what is in the heart of a boy until it has been cracked by some hard vicissitude of life.

When I was taken sick my boy squared his frail shoulders to bear his father's burdens. Day after day he went to the office and tried to take his father's place, and when they gave him business worries to bring home he would often hide them in his pocket and meet his father with a smiling face.

His father should not be worried. One day he came home in pain and laid down his work. When they were about to take him away to the hospital I went to him and said: "My boy, you know how I have always loved you with all my heart."

"And I have loved you with all my heart, too," he replied; "but papa don't worry; I don't mind the operation, I am only afraid you will worry and it will make you worse. Don't worry, papa."

And day after day there came a message of love from the hospital with its admonition not to worry.

When at last he began to realize that he must go, he sent for me.

"God has been good to us," I said to him, "and we can trust him."

"I am trusting him," he said.

"We've had lot of good times together, my boy, and we are going to have many more; for I am coming to you and we shall live together forever."

And he gave my hand a squeeze that broke my heart.

At the last moment, while talking to his mother, his brilliant mind as clear as it had ever been in all his life, he looked up suddenly and exclaimed:

"They are coming!"

"Who are coming, my child?" asked his mother.

Oh, the angels, the angels! I see them!"

"And won't you come for me, my boy?" asked his mother.

"Yes, yes; good-bye."

And he passed within the veil as peacefully as a babe drops to sleep on his mother's breast.

KILLS GERMS

Parisian Sage is Also the Most Delightful Hair
Dressing on Earth.

PARISIAN SAGE penetrates into the roots of the hair, destroys the dandruff germs, puts new life into the hair and stops it from falling out.

Perry's Drug Store guarantees it for dandruff, falling hair and itching scalp and a large bottle costs but 50 cents.

"In August I began losing my hair in spots from the size of a quarter to the size of a silver dollar. I was seriously alarmed—after consulting physicians and trying many things, I decided to try PARISIAN SAGE, and I find my hair in much better condition, new hair growing in the bald spots." Mrs. Blanche S. Marshall, 407 Hinton Ave., Charlottesville, Va. Ladies, give delightful PARISIAN SAGE a trial, and see how quickly your hair will grow lovely and fascinating.

Good Sense From Woodson.

The present campaign in Kentucky must not be permitted to degenerate into one of personal abuse. There is no occasion for it. There is nothing at stake warranting acrimonious language between Democrats. Every man in the party, for the party's welfare and in the interest of good citizenship, should immediately lend his influence toward stopping a personal controversy that is without justification and deplorable from every standpoint.—Owensboro Messenger.

Silly Denominationalism.

A contributor to the Florida Christian Advocate advises his readers to draw denominational lines in selecting their candidates, i. e., if a man is a member of your church, other things being equal, vote for him. We do not think this advice of the reverend gentleman is wholesome. Politics and religion are bad things to mix together. A man's moral character certainly should be considered in selecting a public servant, but the church he attends, or the form of worship he employs, is a matter concerning which none has a right to dictate or interfere with, but which rests solely with his own conscience. That is the spirit of our free institutions.—Lakeland Evening Telegram.

To a man up a tree it looks as if the Democrats of Kentucky would be guilty of base ingratitude to fail to re-elect Rufus Van Sant chairman of the State Central Committee. There is a faction in the party waging a merry war on Governor McCreary and the administration generally, and it is after Mr. Van Sant's scalp. His splendid work during the late campaign when the Democrats were restored to power by an overwhelming majority surely deserves our endorsement. He practically gave up his private business and spent months planning the defeat of the Republicans. His time, his intelligence, his tact and skill and his money were unselfishly and unreservedly devoted to the party's advancement. He ought to be chosen chairman without opposition.—Hopkinsville News Era.

THE CLIMAX cannot believe the Democratic party of Kentucky will be guilty of ungratefulness to Rufus Van Sant, chairman of the State Central Committee, and disregard the "valiant services" rendered the party during the campaign last fall, by selecting another man to take charge of the affairs so successfully conducted by this gentleman. Mr. Van Sant is due great credit for the splendid victory achieved by the State Democracy last November, and to select another to preside in the capacity of State Chairman would be a rebuke to one of the most loyal and efficient party workers in Kentucky. Democrats of Madison, remember next Saturday when you assemble in convention the splendid work of Mr. Van Sant, the overwhelming majority of last fall, and we are sure you will conclude, as The Climax has done, that he certainly deserves our unanimous endorsement.

THE LOUISVILLE TIMES of Monday evening contains a very complimentary notice of our fellow townsman and ex-Representative L. B. Herrington, written by the editor of "What's Doing Among Politicians." The article comments on the splendid showing made by Mr. Herrington in his race for delegate from the Eighth Congressional District to the national convention at Baltimore. The Times is laboring under the impression that Mr. Herrington is an announced candidate for this honor, which is an erroneous idea and unauthorized, as the many duties demanding Mr. Herrington's attention preclude the possibility of his entering into a contest of a political nature.

Judge J. A. Sullivan, of Richmond, spent the day here Monday in the interest of his race for the Democratic Congressional nomination in this district. He has been visiting different counties in the district meeting the voters but will not begin his campaign until after Circuit Court, which is held in session at Richmond.—Shelby News.

Hon. G. E. Lilly and family arrived home Wednesday, after having spent the week in San Francisco. The heartiest reception has been tendered Mr. Lilly and family on their return to Richmond, where many friends are glad to see them. Mr. Lilly is in the best of health and his family are happy to be at home again.

Miss Leona Wilson Gott of Richmond, is here the guest of her aunt Mrs. L. N. Miller. Mrs. James Burnside has returned to her home in Richmond, after a visit to Lancaster relatives. The following were in Richmond for the funeral of Little Hall Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. J. Parker Gregory, Lancaster. Mrs. Sallie Rayburn, Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brown, of Lexington, Mrs. C. W. Clancy, of Winchester, W. F. Champ and Miss Jennie Lackey, of this city.—Lancaster Record.

Mrs. Jephtha Chenault has hosts of friends who will rejoice to know of the successful outcome of a serious surgical operation she underwent recently at St. Anthony's Hospital, Louisville. The operation consisted in the removal of a tumor growth which extended all around the collar bone. Being so close to the heart, the operation was a most delicate one, and it is gratifying to know that Mrs. Chenault is recovering nicely and will soon be able to return home.

Gen. Green Clay Goodloe and Mrs. Goodloe, of Washington City, and Green Clay Goodloe, Jr., of Lexington, Ky., came over in Mr. Goodloe's automobile Tuesday afternoon and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. George W. Phelps, at 210 E. Third and had dinner Wednesday with Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Evans. Gen. Goodloe is retired paymaster of the army and has many friends and relatives in Madison county. Mr. and Mrs. Phelps had for dinner Tuesday night to meet General and Mrs. Goodloe, and also Mr. and Mrs. Brutus J. Carleton Smith, Mrs. Mary Nell Thompson and Miss Margaretta Smith.

Mr. Tom Noland came last week for a visit to his brother, Supt. John Noland, and other relatives. Mr. Noland left Madison county seven years ago, going to California, where he was engaged in the Navy at San Francisco for four years service, which expired May 9. He re-enlisted at once and is now on a furlough with instructions to report at San Francisco June 3. He will then spend six months in the training school of the Navy, after which he will enter the torpedo and submarine service and be stationed on the coast of Rhode Island. Mr. Noland has spent much time on the waters of the Pacific ocean and on Chinese waters. He has been promoted several times since entering the service and is now what is known as "gunners mate." Mr. Noland is about twenty-two years of age, has made a splendid record in the service and expects to spend his life in the Navy. His friends will rejoice to hear of his continued advancement and prosperity.

Birthday Celebrated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stevens, of Breezy Point, four miles east of Richmond, on Red Horse road, entertained Sunday in honor of the seventy-five birthday of Mr. S. P. Good, Mrs. Stevens' father. The children present were: Mr. R. L. Slade and two children, Mr. and Mrs. C. Burgin and two children and son, E. Wood, all of Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and daughter, Regina, and granddaughter, Miss Agnes Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Al Williams, of Red House; and Master Harry of Lexington. A hearty band of friends, who journeyed over from Lexington together on their bicycles. Sixteen members of the family spent a most pleasant and happy reunion together. Mr. Good was a Confederate soldier and a member of Uncle Joe Wheeler's command, and is yet hale and hearty and bids fair to celebrate many more anniversaries. When seated at the table a member presented a glass to the honored guest, which had been written by Miss Aubrey Burgin, one of Mr. Good's granddaughters. These toasts were appropriately written and came as a pleasant surprise to Mr. Good. The menu consisted of all the delicacies of the season and a most happy and memorable occasion was enjoyed by those present.

Mammoth Cave

Madison County's trip to Mammoth Cave will be June 19. The round trip railroad fare from all the stations in the county $5.65, all the expenses at the Cave Hotel $5.50 for the three days trip. This latter amount includes your board at Cave Hotel and the several routes through the Cave, making the expense for a grand three days outing to the great Subterranean wonder for $12.15. The hotel has been reserved for this particular date. Tickets on sale from all stations. A specially conducted trip. Through coaches on regular morning trains. Write or phone the L. & N. Agent.

Our contributors and correspondents will please remember to write on ONE SIDE OF THE PAPER ONLY, as it causes the compositor to "speak out" when written on both sides of the paper. If

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stevens, of Breezy Point, four miles east of Richmond, on Red Horse road, entertained Sunday in honor of the seventy-five birthday of Mr. S. P. Good, Mrs. Stevens' father. The children present were: Mr. R. L. Slade and two children, Mr. and Mrs. C. Burgin and two children and son, E. Wood, all of Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and daughter, Regina, and granddaughter, Miss Agnes Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Al Williams, of Red House; and Master Harry of Lexington. A hearty band of friends, who journeyed over from Lexington together on their bicycles. Sixteen members of the family spent a most pleasant and happy reunion together. Mr. Good was a Confederate soldier and a member of Uncle Joe Wheeler's command, and is yet hale and hearty and bids fair to celebrate many more anniversaries. When seated at the table a member presented a glass to the honored guest, which had been written by Miss Aubrey Burgin, one of Mr. Good's granddaughters. ## CHURCH NOTES.

Brother French filled his appointment Sunday at the Republican church.

Mr. Pleasant church has called Bro. McChendon for their pastor. He will move with his family to Richmond to reside.

Rev. Mr. Summers, of Georgetown, will preach at the Baptist church, Kingston, Sunday morning and evening.

Rev. W. E. Arnold, of Danville, the presiding elder of the Danville District, will preach at the Methodist church next Saturday at 2:30 p. m. and on Sunday at the morning and evening services, it being the occasion of the third quarterly conference of the district.

The Paragraph in the discipline of the Methodist Episcopal church forbidding dancing, card playing, theater going and some other worldly amusements was retained in the discipline by action of the General Conference. Quite a number of petitions had been presented asking that it be left out.

While the new Christian church is being erected the congregation will hold all services regularly in the McKee skating rink. The carpets, pews, pulpit and other furnishings will be installed, and the rink makes an excellent place for meetings of all kinds. The officers of the church were fortunate in securing such commodious and convenient quarters.

Dr. Frank M. Thomas, presiding elder of the Louisville district, was the fraternal delegate of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Minneapolis. The daily Christian Advocate, speaking of his address said, "So eloquent, so beautiful, so patriotic, that the great audience was carried off its seats."

Sunday, May 19, is observed as "Children's Day" in the Methodist churches generally. A regular program is provided and a collection taken, which is applied in the interest of the Sunday School work, the principal part going to the purchase of books and supplies.

The First Church of Christ (Scientist) holds their regular every Sunday in their apartments, 136 Second street, Sunday School at 10 o'clock a. m. Lesson, Matthew 11: 1-11. a. m. Wednesday evening, testimonial services at 7:30 p. m. Free reading room 136 Second street, open from 2:04 p. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Subject for next Sunday, May 26th, "Soul and Body."

The public is cordially invited to these services.

Hon. William J. Bryan was quite the feature of the day Sunday in Louisville as a speaker before the Northern Presbyterian Assembly, speaking five times upon subjects of the day.

"The making of a Man," "The larger life" and "Brotherly Love." Mr. Bryan has been elected Moderator of the Wisconsin Assembly, and it was particularly in the interest of this situation that he was a visitor to the General Assembly. One sentence from one of his addresses is the "Key note" to Mr. Bryan's life and utterances, and it is worthy of being solemnly proclaimed by the Agitators in both parties just now; I regard religion infinitely superior in its relation to human life and to human government.

NORMAL NOTES.

Our popular coach, Prof. Wilson, has been confined to his room for several days with an injured foot, the result of an accident on the diamond. Blood poisoning was feared, but timely treatment and the use of the X-ray machine have cured him and he is able to report him on the mend.

A pleasant reception was given in Sullivan Hall on Thursday last week, from 5:30 to 8:00 p. m., to the bride and groom, Prof. and Mrs. Koch. The students of the Model and Normal schools, and the faculty of the Normal, were the invited guests. Those receiving were Mrs. Crabbe, Prof. and Mrs. Koch, Mr. Roark, Prof. and Mrs. Johnson and Miss Patridge. The reception hour was set apart for the entertainment of the children in the grades. The lot of the bride and groom was a most happy and dignified worthy of guests more practiced in social formalities.

The older students arrived later and paid their respects and congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Koch, whom they had all learned to know and love as a devoted, teacher of first and second grades.

EASTERN 15, MILLERSBURG 9.

Prof. Johnson took his hard hitting Eastern team to Millersburg Monday, accompanied by about fifty riders, and succeeded in defeating the fast Millersburg team by the overwhelming score of 15 to 9. Lewis was on the mound for the Easterns, and pitched an excellent game, allowing only one hit and no scores. The features of the game were the pitching of Lewis and the hard hitting of the Easterns, Broadus leading in the slugfest.

EASTERN 14, STATE JUNIORS 9.

The Eastern boys met the strong team of State Juniors on Saturday last, and took them in a slugfest by the score of 14 to 9. Within the last few weeks Eastern has developed a hard hitting team and the State Juniors were in turn driven from the mound. Eastern has at last gotten into condition and the boys are playing first-class ball and hope to close the schedule with a series of victories.

The Imperial Double Disc Harrow

The forward sections cut the ground and throw it outward. The rear sections work it again and throw it back to its original position. The ground is leveled and pulverized and left in perfect condition for seeding. Once over the field with an Imperial Double Disc does as much work as twice over with a Single Disc and does it more thoroughly. The time and expense of discing is reduced one-half. An ordinary Disc Harrow of six or seven foot cut is generally used with three horses. An Imperial Double Disc of the same width of cut requires only four. The saving of horse-power is accomplished: First, by the form of the machine. The double action of the two harrows, one attached to and immediately following the other, requires much less than the power of two separate harrows. Second, by the shape of the blades. The scalloped blades, though better pulverizers than solid blades, have less bearing service against the surface they move and consequently have less draft.

WHEN SPAIN GAVE UP CUBA

Drama That Began With Columbus Ended In Sorrow After the American War.

Arriving in Havana on the afternoon of December 31, 1898, the day before Spain surrendered the island, I presented to Major General Ludlow a letter of introduction from the son of one of his close friends, and asked for a pass which would enable Mr. Thayer and myself to see the next day's ceremonies at the palace. The pass was promptly forthcoming.

It was five minutes to twelve next day. At that instant rose the solemn strains of the Spanish anthem. As it ceased there was a moment's silence. Then up through the casements came the "Star Spangled Banner," and the procession, which had formed before, wound its way through the great port and up into the palace. We were met by Major General Brooke and the officers under his command, their dress uniforms and yellow sashes a bright note of color, entered first; then came the swarthy Cuban leaders, their uniforms less splendid, but their dignity beyond question; and last of all, General Castellanos and his staff. The scene was too painful to prolong. A moment of formality and it was over, and the defeated said farewell. It was an ordeal for a man of Castellanos' temperament. Tears came to his eyes. "I have been in many battles," he faltered, "many trying situations, but never in a position like this." Then, as we watched, the little handful of Spanish troops, headed off by life and drum, set their faces toward Spain. The drama which began with Columbus was finished—John Adams Thayer, "Out of the Rut."

SOLID MATTER A FICTION?

Scientists Now Declare That What Seems So Really Only Motion.

Science is knocking the materialist end for end, as the boys say. It is absolutely proven that there is no such thing as solid, substantive matter. It is only motion. This stone, this table, this hammer is only motion. Some newfangled idiotic fellow, eh? Well, it is known that matter is composed of atoms. For a long time the atom was thought to be the final analysis of matter.

But such is not the case. A few years ago radium was discovered, and that has broken the atom into small bits, 2,000 times smaller than the hydrogen atom, the smallest of all. These particles of the atom are called electrons, and now it has been found that these electrons are mere points of electrical energy. These electrons, says a magazine article, "are entirely free from anything that can properly be called matter."

Trillions and trillions of these electrons make up this piece of iron, and they are always in motion. Flitting about at the rate of 50,000 miles per second. Now you know there is a lie out—how can a man calculate the speed of an invisible motion inside of an invisible atom? Oh, did I tell you, eh? Well, it is known that matter is composed of atoms. For a long time the atom was thought to be the final analysis of matter.

STOMACH TROUBLES

Cured By Vinol—Here is Proof

Seymour, Ind.—"I was troubled with a chronic stomach trouble, and five weeks ago it got so bad I had to give up work. I had tried various medicines without relief, and was finally induced to try Vinol. After taking the first bottle I was greatly benefited. Now on the third bottle and ready to resume work. An rapidly gaining in weight and strength." Edw. Nieman.

It is the curative element of the liver, combined with the strengthening properties of tonic from contained in Vinol which makes it so successful in restoring perfect digestion and at the same time it builds up the tired, overworked and run-down system. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

ALDRICH IN THE OLD DAYS

How the Author Appeared When He Had Just Become Editor of Atlantic Monthly.

I can see him now, sitting at the round table at Oscar's, holding a briar pipe that was often between his fingers than in his mouth, and swinging it in graphic phrases as he talked to us. He used it like a painter's brush or pencil.

He was dressed in a quiet suit of tweeds, the sobriety of which was relieved by a flowing crimson scarf carried at the neck by an antique ring. He was partial to crimson in those days, and it became his complexion and the light curls apostrophized by Thayer Taylor. We parted late and in a merry mood, the young fellows among us glorying in the new friend who was so witty, so suave, and so attentive to our ambitions and aspirations. Moreover, Aldrich had just succeeded to the editorship of the Atlantic Monthly, and hopes arose of possible advantages lying for young authors in that direction. "I'll have an elegy ready for him before breakfast, and try to get ahead of Edgar," said Frank Salts, referring to Edgar Fawcett, as the lights went out on the eleventh floor of the hotel. On the following morning he came to me, dissembling an air of despondency. "It's no use. Edgar's beaten us all. He shipped a car load to the Atlantic by the fast freight before daylight—as per invoice, sonnets, ten tales; trilets, ballads and rondeaux, three plays; novels and short stories, twenty tons in fifteen crates."—Bookman.

MAPS OF THEIR HOME STATES

Exiles Keep Them Hanging in Their Offices Because They Get Very Homesick.

To that general information bureau, the Wisconsin State Board of Maps, the man who wished to see a large map of Wisconsin.

"Where can I find one?" he said. "There is a Wisconsin map in our building on the eleventh floor," said the starter. "He'll be likely to have one." Up to the eleventh floor went the seeker for a map. He found one there. "How does it happen," he said to the Wisconsin exile, "that all you men from other states keep a life-size map of your native state hanging up in your offices for a year or two after migrating to New York? Is it because you are homesick?"

"Partly," said the Wisconsin man, "and partly for the accommodation of visitors from back home. I guess you are right about every last one of us exiles clinging to a home map for a while. I have been into the offices of recent arrivals from half the states in the Union, and every place I saw a state map. I suppose those people got them for the same reason I did. Back in Milwaukee I never thought of owning a map of Wisconsin, but now that I am in New York I find it a most good to trace familiar railroad routes and locate well-known towns. Then, a lot of Wisconsin people here on a visit drop in, and as they expect to be here a while, I find it a most sentimental advantage to them to find a Wisconsin map handy."

Financier.

A small boy was given a penny to spend. Now, although his stomach craved a jelly, he also wished a banana he had seen on a fruit stand at the corner. He preferred, of the two, the fruit.

"How much is them bananas?" he asked.

"Six for five cents, or a penny apiece."

"Six for five? Well," the youngster said wistfully, "give me six."

The fruiterer counted out half a dozen and handed them over.

"A penny apiece?" questioned the boy, taking them.

The man nodded. So the boy counted out five bananas and gave them back. "There's your five cents' worth," he said. "I don't want 'em."

Before the merchant quite saw the value of the lad's act, the boy was on his way to the candy store, bananas in one hand and his cent in the other.—Judge.

Her Idea of Art.

An old gentleman who owned a fine estate not far from the country seat of the duke of Devonshire (which is open to the public when the duke is there) one day drove with a party of friends to this famous residence, taking with him his housekeeper, Martha, a good old soul, who had been with him a great many years.

Arriving at Chatsworth they passed slowly through room after room of almost priceless pictures. But Martha spoke never a word, although it was evident that she was not missing anything. Each and every picture that her eye lit on underwent a most rigid scrutiny, much to the amusement of the rest of the party.

At last her master turned to her and said: "Well, Martha, what do you think of it all?"

"Why," exploded Martha, rapturously, "I cannot see a speck of dust anywhere."

A Possible Derivation.

"Words are terribly funny things, aren't they?" said Mrs. Jones. "Take the word gargoyle—how on earth do you suppose they ever got that?"

"Very simple, my dear," said Mr. Jones. "Just look at yourself in the glass some time when you gargle and then look at a gargoyle, and you'll see."—Harper's Weekly.

There never was a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. This is shown by the increase in sales and voluntary testimonials from persons who have been cured by it. ## ANGELL AVOIDED THE TRAP

Tells of His Duel of Wits With a Spy of the Sultan of Turkey at Constantinople.

In the diplomatic service, a man must always keep his wits keen and ready for use. A case in point is supplied by James Barrill Angell, in his "Reminiscences." In this anecdote of his sojourn in Constantinople, as minister to the Sultan, Angell tells of a duel of wits with a Turkish spy who was endeavoring to secure the cooperation of a Turkish agent in the city.

He was a handsome, dignified Arab, who had been in England long enough to talk English fairly well. He introduced himself to me by saying he had been mayor of Jerusalem, and was now trying to procure from the government a concession for the construction of a system of waterworks for that city.

He regretted—so he informed me—to find that the government was so corrupt that he had no hope of securing the concessions except by bribing a whole row of officials. It refreshed him to turn from these representatives of corrupt and tyrannical government and pay his respects to the representative of a pure and honest democracy.

Supporting his object to be to draw from me some remark derogatory to the Sultan, which he could report to my disadvantage, I remarked that a monarchy presided over by a just sovereign was a very edifying spectacle, and that even in republics it must be admitted that corrupt men were sometimes found in office.

He seemed surprised, and proceeded to eulogize republican government. I continued my commendations of enlightened monarchies.

The conversation ran on in this way for half an hour, when he bade me adieu—but, as I scattered myself without any game for his bag—YOUTH'S Companion.

STRANGE COUNTRY IS OMAN

Something About the Sultinate at the Southeast End of the Arabian Peninsula.

One of the least known countries of the Arabian peninsula is the sultinate of Oman, which occupies the southeastern extremity. The country is largely uninhabited. The area has not been exactly determined, as the western, or desert, border has never been fixed. The population, which ranges from 250,000 to 500,000 is distributed mostly along the coast and a few interior valleys that can be irrigated. There are no rivers, and the annual rainfall is not more than five inches. We are the only source of water. The Tropic of Cancer crosses the sultinate, and while the winters are pleasant the summers are long and extremely hot. Arabic is the language generally spoken, though in the ports many persons speak Persian, Baluchi and Hindustani, and every native merchant can conduct his business correspondence in either English or French. The sultan or any of his walls, or governors, decides a case which may be brought before them without reference to any other case or to any law, except local customs and such precepts of the Koran as may be deemed applicable. Commercial law is unknown. Wages, formerly extremely low, have been increasing steadily, a condition said to be due not to any increase in the demand for labor, but to a deficiency in the supply caused by the dying out of the sedes, or negro population since the importation of slave cargoes ceased. The prevailing daily wages, United States currency, in Omani, are: Carpenters, 45c; masons, 37c; cooks, 25c; maids, 24c; coolies, 24c; messengers, 20c, and women date packers, 37c. Goats, sheep and burros, of poor and stunted type, owing to scanty forage, are raised; but the dromedaries which the tribes of the western border grow are said to be the best bred in the world. Horses are few, there being probably less than 500 in the whole country.

Paid Good Price for His Cutlet.

The Brazilian nabob, Baron Fereau, was as miserly in trifles as he was extravagant in other directions. It was one of his peculiarities never to fee servants, and the waiters of the various hotels at which he sojourned were, for that reason, not partial to him. One morning, while staying at the magnificent Mauve hotel in Rio de Janeiro, he came down to breakfast and ordered a cutlet. After he had eaten it he ordered a second. "Baron," said the head waiter, maliciously, "it's a custom with us never to serve the same course twice at a meal." "Is that so?" said Fereau, and rising from his seat he left the room. In ten minutes he came back into the dining-room. "Walter," said he, "I have just bought this hotel and am master here now. As you will not be able to get accustomed to my plan of serving guests according to their wishes, you are dismissed at once." Thereupon he took up his napkin again and called to another waiter: "Now, bring me another cutlet!"

WHO WOULDN'T BE TEACHER?

Here is a Schedule of Her Daily Tasks, With an Estimate of Her Pay.

A school teacher is a person who teaches things to people when they are young.

The teacher comes to school at 8:30 o'clock, and when she has gotten enough children for a mess in her room, she teaches them reading, writing, geography, grammar, arithmetic, music, drawing, cooking, book sewing, crocheting, deep breathing, bird calls, scientific eating, patriotism, plain and fancy bathing, forestry, divs and other sciences too numerous to mention. When school is out she stays behind with five or six of her worst scholars and tries to save the state a job of reforming them later on. After that she hurries home to make herself a new dress and snatch a hasty supper before going back to attend a lecture by an imported specialist on the history of tribal law in Patagonia, which the superintendent thinks may give her some information which may be useful in her school work some day. A great many lecturers round the country preying on school teachers and some of them are very cruel, talking to them so long that the poor things have to sit up till morning, when they get home, to get their daily test papers corrected.

School teachers' salaries range from $30 a month up—but not far enough up to make them dizzy. On her salary the teacher must dress nicely, buy her own things for her work which the city is too poor to get, go to twenty-five lectures and concerts a year, buy helpful books on pedagogy, pay her own district, county and state institutes, and enjoy herself during three months' vacation which her salary takes every year. In addition the teacher is supposed to hoard away vast sums of money, so that when she becomes too nervous and cross to teach, at the age of fifty or thereabouts, she can retire and live happily ever after on her income.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

IS MOST POPULAR OF BOOKS

Bible Holds This Proud Position Partly on Account of Its Pure Literature.

The Bible is the most popular book in the world on account of its pure literature. Say what we will concerning the advancement of modern methods of style and beauties of expression, I doubt if anyone will approach some of the passages which can be found in the Psalms, in the Prophets, or in the Book of Revelation. Considering the fact that these writings have come to us through translations, it is astonishing what beauties and power have been preserved. There is no book quoted oftener than the Bible. Passages have been woven into our own literature. No writer of any prominence has ever been able to escape borrowing from the Bible. The reading of it has affected the style of writers like Ruskin and Browning and Milton. Gladstone repeatedly acknowledged his indebtedness to the Bible for his phraseology. Charles Fox said more than once that he owed to the Bible the style of his vocabulary. The variety of expression to be found on the part of the different writers is strangely commingled with unity of expression due in large part to the fact that all of these men are writing with at least one great purpose in view. For we have in the Bible a style which is more or less uniform from beginning to end—even the style of expression.—The Christian Herald.

"Memento Garden."

A very popular woman has what she calls a "memento garden." All the flowers therein come from bulbs saved from plants sent her during her frequent illnesses. At first she used to give these pots of tulips or hyacinths away before the bloom was over either to the furniture man or to some other employee coming in daily, but one day a friend who had a country place asked for the bulbs of a particularly beautiful box of coral pink tulips, the flowers having a spicy and unusual degree of perfume. This made her consider her own flower beds, and there after the various lots of bulbs were dried and "bagged." Each bag was labeled and the place where the contents were eventually planted was marked to correspond. Thus each spring brings a reminder of kind friends, and the air is fragrant with their gifts. With proper care and favorable weather conditions the bulbs will bloom for a lifetime, and thus constitute a lasting memorial of their donors.

Known by Their Actions.

Some people are like a fly on the body of an ox. In that they pass over all the sound, healthy parts, looking for a sore spot at which to stop and feed. Or like a hornet that rejects all the sound fruit and seizes upon the one rotting specimen. As the hornet reveals his nature by getting poison out of the same flower where the bee gets honey, so do these constitutional growlers prove themselves bad reporters by their bad report.

Blood Was Wrong

All women, who suffer from the aches and pains, due to female ailments, are urged to try Cardui, the reliable, scientific, tonic remedy, for women. Cardui acts promptly, yet gently, and without bad effects, on the womanly system, relieving pain, building up strength, regulating the system, and toning up the nerves. During the past half century, thousands of ladies have written to tell of the quick curative results they obtained, from the use of this well-known medicine.

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Jane Calhoun suffered from womanly trouble for nearly ten years. In a letter from Whiteville, N. C., she says: "I was not able to do my own housework. My stomach was weak, and my blood was wrong. I had backache, and was very weak. I tried several doctors, but they did me no good. I used Cardui for 3 or 4 months, and now I am in the best health I have ever been. I can never praise Cardui enough." It is the best tonic, for women.

KEEPS OUT OF WATER NOW

Gander With Fishing Line Tied to His Leg Lived a Lively Time With Pickers.

A Wisconsin gander was so upset by experiments made upon and through him by a mischievous boy that for a long time he would not go into the water.

The gander's determination to abstain from water as a means of bathing grew out of the following circumstances:

The boy thought he would tie a fishing-line to the gander's leg and with a hook properly baited turn the bird out into the water. The bait was a frog.

The gander went into the mill pond, where he swam around for half an hour, turning "flip-flops" and diving for food. Suddenly he felt a pull at his leg and looked surprised as the "lone fisherman" when he caught a whale.

The gander concluded that there was something the matter, and he looked to ascertain the cause. The pickerel on the hook gave several jerks, whereupon the gander decided that he wanted to go home.

He at once started for the shore, but the pickerel on the hook wanted to go the other way. The gander swam right at first. Then he evinced signs of anger and tried to fly to shore, but the pickerel pulled him back.

After half an hour of the hardest work he had ever done, the gander came ashore dragging a six-pound pickerel on the back.

The boy took off the pickerel and batted the hook with another frog. He tried to induce the gander to see a gentleman with a painful arm.

Get Your Drinking Cups.

The sanitary law passed at the recent session of the Legislature, which forbids the use of the common drinking cups in stores, railroad passenger cars, school stations, schools, and other public places, will go into effect on June 15th. The law also provides that placards printed in large type, and containing the main provisions of the law, must be posted in a prominent position in the places mentioned. It is expected and hoped that the strict enforcement of the provisions of this wise measure will reduce in a marked degree the number of dangerous contagious diseases, such as tuberculosis, catarrh, bronchial and many other forms of illness which are often traceable to the use of a common utensil for drinking purposes.

Roosevelt at the Gates of Heaven.

St. Peter was aroused by a knocking on the gate of heaven and upon inquiring who was without received the reply, "George Washington."

"What have you done to merit heaven?" asked the saint.

"I helped to establish a great nation," was the modest rejoinder, whereupon the father of his country was invited to enter.

A few decades after a tall, cadaverous individual presented himself at the pearly gates and requested admission.

"Who are you?" asked St. Peter.

"I am Abraham Lincoln," was the reply. Of course the great emancipator was assigned one of the high seats in heaven.

After the passages of a few more decades there came a terrific hammering upon the golden gate, and St. Peter in much trepidation hastened to ascertain the cause of the racket. Looking timidly out he saw a pompous individual in a Rough Rider's uniform and it transpired a big stick.

"Who are you?" asked St. Peter tremulously.

"None of your business who I am," came the tart reply; "just tell God I'm here."

I Will Stand the Percheron Stallion

For the season of 1912, at my mother's place near Richmond, on Big Hill pike at $15 to insure a Living Colt

PEDIGREE—BRILLIANT D. is a Percheron colt, bred by W. R. Grimme, Jr., Sweetwater, Ill., color gray, foaled April 6, 1906. Sired by Gaius's Percheron Stallion, imported by Dunham, Fletcher & Coleman, of Wayne, Ill. Gaius's sire by Etretat, he by Volcan, he by Blenheim, he by Voltaire, he by Brilliant. Dam Mag, black mare by Koscoe, he by Jas. Brown's Brilliant, a prize winner at the Chicago World's Fair, he by Brilliant, one of the most noted Percherons of either France or America, for which Mr. Dunham was offered a very large price to let him go to France. So it will be seen that BRILLIANT D. is very deeply bred in the Brilliant blood, and is fully entitled to the name of Brilliant.

I wish to impress upon parties having mares to breed, that BRILLIANT D. weighs 1700 pounds. I believe the time is at hand when it taken weight to bring the money. Readers of the Breeders Gazette will notice that within the last few days large numbers of Percheron mares have been sold for prices around and exceeding $500. Care taken to prevent accidents, but not responsible should any occur. Lion retained on colt until service fee is paid, or bred to another horse.

THE PROMISING YOUNG JACK

Long Tom

Will also make the season at the same time and place, at $10 to insure a Living Colt.

Money due when colt is foaled, mare parted with or bred to another horse or jack.

This jack is of big bone, good head and ear, and must be seen to be appreciated. His colts which have been foaled, are of exceptional size and quality.

Long Tom will be to the mule world what Peter the Great was to the horse world. He is by Wm. Todd's big Jack, he by Marmaduke. His first dam by Big Andy, he by Tom Ketch, he by Rubie Billington; 2d dam by Lear's Napoleon.

Mare kept on grass at 10 cents per day. Not responsible for accidents, but all care taken to prevent same.

Will also stand Silver Creek Red Boar Hog at $1.00.

MODESTY IS A MALE VIRTUE

With Women It is no More Than an Artificial Protective Device, Says Writer.

And in this same connection it is time that we revised our ideas of feminine modesty. What a lot we have written about it! Some of us have even tried to make it an inspiration, and women have listened to our praises and our ecstasies for all these years and never once have they divulged the secret that they had not the slightest idea what we were talking about. They have known that we were crediting them with some virtue that they did not possess, but the only way in which they could learn of that virtue was by an observation of our selves.

For modesty is a male, not a female, virtue, and if men do not get the credit due to it it is only because they have lost the power to believe. What is called feminine modesty is no more than an artificial protective device, something that is assumed for a purpose, like a revolver. It has no basis in consciousness. But male modesty has a basis in consciousness and is unassumed. No power on earth could persuade a man to enter a drawing room and stand before a group of ladies and say: "I am a modest man."

Now a woman who had to walk down the street in décolleté dress would probably blush. She would say that the modesty was artificial, but actually it is her sense of the appropriate that she should be modest, for she has not the least objection to bathing in public—that is to say, playing about on the sands—in a costume far more expensive than the décolleté gown. In short, a woman's sense of modesty is one-half a protective pose and one-half a sense of the appropriate. If you want a natural and unspiced modesty you have to go to men for it.—The Argonaut.

FOX ALWAYS WAS CUNNING

Fable From the Talmud Tells How He Put the Bear in the Well.

A fox and a bear were out walking together one day, when, as they passed a house, they smelled the dinner cooking. The fox suggested to his companion that they should creep into the kitchen when no one was there and steal some of the food. The bear agreed; but while they were in the kitchen the cook came in, and the bear was caught and punished. For this he threatened to kill the fox; but the cunning fox said:

"I will take you to another place where we shall certainly obtain plenty of food."

At night the fox led the bear to a deep well and pointing to the reflection of the moon in the water below, said:

"There is a fine cheese. We will go down and get it."

He then got into one of the buckets at the end of the rope and told the bear to get into the other. But as he was too light to balance the bear's weight a large stone was placed with him in the pail.

As soon as the bear had entered the other bucket the fox threw out the stone and the bucket with the bear inside descended and was left in the well.—From the Talmud.

Origin of Beet Sugar.

When the fleets of Great Britain blockaded all the ports of Continental Europe, during the Napoleonic wars, Europe was cut off from its supply of sugar. It became necessary to find a substitute. Before the discovery of America sugar was unknown and honey was the universal sweetening. But the supply of honey was not equal to the demand now. In some countries, as in Bohemia, they made sugar from the maple; in other countries they crystallized dextrose from the juice of the grape, but these sources were inadequate. The final outcome of the matter was the birth of the beet sugar industry. It was 100 years ago, in 1810, that the first loaf of beet sugar was made and presented to Napoleon; and the centenary of this event has just been celebrated in France.

Her Comprehensive Reply.

"I ask only," in well modulated tones said the earnest, faded faced young man, "that you give me what you can of your love and that you never strive for my sake to deny any yearning or strange impulse that pants within you. Give me what you can while you can give it without regretting or regretting, but the moment you feel that it is a task to love me renounce me forever, though the verdict pierce me to the very heart."

"How cute!" returned the stuffy young thing. "But—see—hee! hee! yes, Wiloughby!"—Puck.

FATAL TO MIGRATING BIRDS

Lighthouses Kill Many Thousands. Which the Keepers Dispose of in City Markets.

A writer furnishes some striking figures concerning the havoc wrought among migrating birds by big lighthouses. The lighthouse on the Pointe du Fenouillet, in Brittany, France, has a revolving light of 30,000,000 candle power. Visiting this on November 10 last year, and again on the twelfth, the observer saw tens of thousands of birds whirling round, and it seemed to him that the light shot out a perfect hail of electric sparks among the migrants. Next morning he was present while the dead bodies were being collected. They are dispatched every day to Paris by train, and the "catch" he was told, often comprised from 2,000 to 4,000 victims; one morning alone there had been more than 500 woodcock in the "bag."

On the two mornings he was present there were only a score of woodcock the ground was littered with from 400 to 1,000 victims, chiefly blackbirds, ducks, woodcock, thrushes and golden plovers. Another offender is the lighthouse on Belle Ile, off the south coast of Brittany. On the two dark nights last November, with a strong wind blowing, this light caused the death of 3,200 birds, including curlews, thrushes, snipe, starlings, over 100 woodcock and some sparrows and quails. Thirdly, the Piller lighthouse kills every season some 700 woodcock.

An old sportsman of Normandy declares that round the lighthouse of Barfleur last November there were picked up in the course of four nights 10,000 birds of all sorts, including 1,800 woodcock. The destruction of bird life by the hundreds of lighthouses elsewhere can only be imagined.

SURGERY IN ANCIENT TIMES

Preparations in One of the Oldest of Operations, Dating Back to Stone Age.

There is no doubt that some rough form of surgery must have existed from very ancient times, but it is strange to find that so complex and delicate an operation as trepanning is one of the oldest.

So far as actual records go, Hippocrates gives us the earliest account. He wrote treatises on fractures, dislocations and wounds of the head, in which he described the method of procedure to be followed in the case of a fractured skull. His direction was to cut away a piece of bone so that the pressure on the brain might be relieved.

There are also records about this time and later of a file being used for this purpose, which at a time when anesthetics were undreamed of must have been, to say the least, painful.

According to Dr. T. Rice Holmes, the operation of removing pieces of bone was performed long before history. The effects on the skull are easily seen after death and are visible so long as the bones are preserved.

From inspection of certain skulls of the later stone age in ancient Britain, Dr. Holmes has come to the conclusion that some of these had undergone the operation, which must have been performed with a stone implement—London Standard.

Early Manuscripts.

The type of letter in early manuscript was the same as that of those used on the earlier metal plates and wax tablets. All letters were capitals. Minuscule, or small lettering, as opposed to the majuscule, was invented in the seventh century. Before its invention there was no spacing between the words. There was no punctuation, unless possibly some mark between sentences. When cursive writing came into general use about the beginning of the tenth century the art was practiced by only a few highly trained scribes. This continued all through the middle ages. The scribes were artists, and they carried their art to a high degree of perfection. Many of the manuscripts of that period are very beautiful specimens of handiwork and as perfect as print.

Economy in Epitaphs.

In a certain town of Nebraska lives a man who has been so unfortunate as to lose three wives, who were buried side by side. For a long time the economical Nebraskan deliberated as to whether he should erect a separate headstone for each, commemorating her virtues, but the expense deterred him. Finally a happy solution of the difficulty presented itself.

He had the Christian name of each engraved on a small stone—"Mary," "Elizabeth," "Matilda"—a hand cut on each stone pointing to a large stone in the center of the lot, and under each hand the words:

"For epitaph see large stone."—Lippincott.

Sparrow Stole a Plume.

While standing on the corner of Fifteenth street and New York avenue yesterday afternoon a well dressed young woman had a small plume torn from her hat by the strong wind. The plume, which was light green, landed in the gutter ten feet away.

Several men offered their services to recover the plume, when a sparrow, seeing the fluffy feather, and realizing its comfort if gotten safely to his nest, snatched it in his mouth and flew to the top of the Riggs Bank building—Washington Post.

Democrats

You want Good County Government, don't you? The only way to get it is to elect Good Officers. It is your duty to yourselves as taxpayers to know positively which one of the candidates for the nomination for County Attorney will give the best service for the money paid him. It is a business proposition strictly—not a matter of sentiment, friendship or close acquaintance. You want a lawyer that has had the proper training and experience and who is honest and energetic. Which Candidate's Record Is THE BEST?

If that of any other is better than mine vote for him. If mine is best vote for me and I will appreciate it.

It is not necessary for the man who dresses well to have his suits made to order—and pay the exorbitant prices of custom tailoring. Every man not an actual freak in form can find a perfect fit in a big stock like ours. We keep special models for men of every shape and build—short stouts for the short fat man; long stouts for the tall fat man; chunk models for the short chunky man; longs and slims for the tall man; and a great variety of models for men of average build—we fit them all. Our salesmen are trained experts in the art of fitting clothes; and our rule is: "A perfect fit or no sale"

These garments are the products of the best wholesale tailors in the world. The cloths have been carefully selected and are the best. They are designed by experts, who create styles and are well tailored by master workmen. The linings are of such quality as prevents the garments from losing shape. A great variety of fabrics and colors and styles are here for your choosing. Selling such suits as these has built up our business and made it what it is; and every suit is priced without a cent put on for "jewel"—we have but one price, and the smallest boy can trade here in perfect safety

DIAMOND DUST.

While the Pioneers have been on the losing side since the opening of the Blue Grass League, the fans of Richmond have stood loyally by and lent every encouragement to boost "our boys." Every effort is being made to strengthen the team and new faces will be seen among the local players during the next week. Manager Fisher has some excellent material in view and the future prospects for the Pioneers is exceedingly bright. Richmond team will not remain near the bottom of the league column for many days, but with the addition of new players will force to the top of the list. The fans of Richmond should continue to attend all games and lend every encouragement to the team possible, as the confidence of our people will go a long way toward assisting and encouraging the Pioneers in their fight for a position at the top of the column.

Fred Toney, who was released by the Chicago "Cubs" to Louisville "Colts," was married Friday night to Miss Allen Walker, of Nashville, Tenn. May he'll pitch better ball now.

Erecting Residence.
Mr. J. Wm. Wagers has awarded to Mr. Jeff Stone contract for the erection of a handsome residence on his farm, four miles from Richmond, on Lancaster pike. Work was begun Monday and is expected to have the building, which will cost $4,000, completed and ready for occupancy by early fall.

Lumber At Auction.
On Saturday, May 25, at 3:30 o'clock p. m. on the premises of the First Christian church, there will be sold in lots to suit the purchaser, a quantity of lumber—flooring, joists, rafters, doors and windows, etc. The metal roof and galvanized ceiling will also be offered for sale. It can be examined before the sale begins.

169 Applicants.
One hundred and sixty nine applicants took advantage of the regular May teachers examination last Friday and Saturday in this city. Of this number forty-five were from Madison county and the remaining 124 were students of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, who are here for the purpose of this examination will be issued certificates to teach in public school.

Annual Meeting of Railway Surgeons.
The annual meeting of the Railway Surgeons of Kentucky was held in Lexington Thursday and Friday of last week. The attendance was large and the meeting was one of the most interesting in the history of the organization. Dr. C. H. Vaught, of this city, editor-in-chief of the Railway Surgeon, a bi-monthly, the official organ of the body, was in attendance and read a paper on "Traumatic Neurasthenia." Dr. H. C. Jasper had prepared a paper on "Compound Comminuted Fractures," but owing to professional engagement at home was not able to be present. Dr. D. Y. Roberts, of Louisville, was elected President for the ensuing year. Dr. J. B. Kinnard, of Lancaster, and Dr. C. H. Vaught, of this city, were elected Secretary and Treasurer, respectively.

The place to hold the next annual meeting did not by any means go begging as was evidenced by the sharp contest for that honor between Crab Orchard and Frankfort. After a neck and neck race Frankfort was awarded that honor for the meeting next May.

Very Much in Evidence.

Normal City Lodge, No. 102, Knights of Pythias, have been very much in evidence in this city during the past ten days. On Saturday night, the 11th inst., the members held an open session in their Castle Hall on East Main street and celebrated the sixth anniversary. About seventy-five members and a number of their friends were in attendance. A delightful spread prepared by George Sarno, of the Paris Restaurant, was served the guests and was greatly enjoyed by all. Mr. Frank Leslie Russell presided as toastmaster, and speeches were made by Messrs. O. P. Jackson, Dan Chasault, R. B. Terrill, T. C. Vaughn, C. S. Jessup and Arthur Wheeler.

About 11 o'clock Wednesday morning a large number of Knights assembled in front of the Opera House and started on a march through the principal streets of the city in behalf of the big minstrel show to be held at the Opera House that night. A large number on horseback, carrying attractive banners, followed by the band, paraded through the principal streets. Mr. Frank Leslie Russell and Prof. E. E. McDougle, who are the sponsors, paraded through the principal streets, and boosting the show. Mr. Russell made several short addresses along the route of march and was roundly applauded. The parade did credit to all who took part.

The minstrel show, "The Georgia Cotton Pickers," was a grand talent and every one acquainted himself or herself admirably. They were greeted with vociferous applause and we have not heard the least criticism from any patron. Nothing but praise for the performers has been given by the public. The black-faced comedians did credit to the profession. The jokes were new and splendid. The singing was also of a high order. The music furnished by the orchestra was inspiring. The dancing thrilled and charmed. The cakewalk, given at the Opera House, and the plantation scenes elicited great mirth. There was not a disappointed person during the entire performance. The show was alright and the performers deserved the enthusiastic applause they received. It was a success in every particular. We regret space forbids in giving a more detailed account.

Prof. E. E. McDougle, of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, has been invited to deliver the annual address to the graduates of Franklin County High school, at Elkhorn, next Friday evening. Prof. McDougle has accepted the invitation and will leave here Friday morning for Frankfort, from which point he will arrive at Elkhorn in time for the address on that evening.

Madison Institute Closes Another Successful Year.
The annual commencement exercises held last week closed another successful year for Madison Institute. These exercises began with the senior play which was given at the Opera House and was rendered in a style worthy of stage veterans. The annual sermon to the class was delivered by Rev. McNeill, of Winchester, his subject being "A Call to the Heights." This service was made doubly enjoyable by the special musical program. Other exercises of the week included receptions, musical recitals, alumni luncheon and regatta games.

The address to the class was delivered by Rev. E. B. Barnes, his subject being "The Beauty of Holiness." Mr. W. H. Smith, who was president of the college in its early days and who is now Chairman of the Board of Trustees, also made a short talk which was much enjoyed.

The class this year was as follows: Misses Duncan Foster, Elsie Buchanan, Hattie Lee Miller, Kathleen Bates, Sallie Woods and Mary Rankin.

Superintendent Cassidy has been with the Institute for three years and under his careful supervision much progress has resulted. The school, which is one of the finest in the South, is now better equipped in every way than ever before and it is gratifying to know that we have in our midst such a school.

DID you ever look up the meaning of the words "Price" and "Cost"? We venture you'd be interested, even surprised.

"Price" originally meant not money, not cash—but Reward, Praise, Worth. In the days of Caesar they called it "Pretium." "Cost" comes from the old Icelandic word "Koster," signifying to Choose, to Test, to Prove. So "Price" is really the Worth of the thing sold. "Cost" means how well the thing bought proves up in actual use.

So we're not so far off the track today, for when you buy paint, the Price of it should be the measure of its usefulness, in appearance and wear. Its Cost to you will be how well it stands the test you put it to. If it does well, it's cheap; if not, you paid too much.

Measured by this, poor paint costs far, far more than good paint; never worth the price asked and never stands the test of wear.

There's one house paint made that's worth the price and stands the test, and that's HORSE SHOE BRAND HOUSE PAINT,—best lead, zinc, aged linseed oil, japan, coloring matter and nothing else; honest materials, honestly prepared, sold on honor. Seven gallons of HORSE SHOE PAINT covers as much surface as ten gallons of ordinary paint and covers it longer.

Then, too, there's a full line of good HORSE SHOE BRAND Paint Specialties—HORSE SHOE BRAND Paint for the Barn, for the Roof, for the Porch, for the Floor, for Inside Walls, Screens, for Buggies, Wagons—in fact, for everything.

When you're ready to buy paint or paint specialties, and want the Price and the Cost both right as well as the Paint, just remember that there is one store where you'll find what you're looking for.

Dressing for the Party

"Oh, say, mother, I don't want 'em mannequin," protested the boy who was going to a party. "Shiny nalls are awful shiny. Why, Bill's nalls had his nalls polished, and he said to me just yesterday that he'd never heard of anybody having to take a bath every day except me. I've asked every boy in this block and there ain't a single fellow who has to take a bath more'n once a week. Now I've got to take an extra one this afternoon on account of Maybelle's party. Gee! I don't want to go to her old baby doll party."

"Say, mother, have I got to go? Well, I think it's mean having parties on Saturday. I wish I was lame, so I couldn't when he said that no you would want me to her party. I don't see why the girls are always having parties."

"You say you're going to give me one, mother, please don't. I don't see what I've done that you're going to give me a party. If you only won't do it I'll be more careful about my English and I'll clean my nalls and scrub my teeth every morning with your reminding me. I will, however. Why, if Bill knew I was going to have a party he'd give me terrible."

"There's no use training me up for society, 'cause I'm going to be a gold miner. Bill knows about a mine out in Nome or Nevada that's awful rich. There's no use suggesting as big as gold falls and he me—I mean I and him—are going out there as soon as we're 16. There was one fellow who went out when he was only 15 going on 16, and now he's a millionaire."

"Well, anyway, if I do have to go to college first before I'm a miner, I'll be a athlete. No society for me, mother, so I don't try to get out cut parties and dancing school. "That brown stuff on my hands? Oh, that's the mahogany stain Bill and me are going to put on my model aeroplane. I was just trying it. It's a swell color." Of course, it won't come off easy or it wouldn't be any good. Bill was coming over this afternoon to work on the aeroplane. He'll be with me when he finds out that you made me go to a party. Bill hasn't got any mother. She died when he was a kid a few days old. Of course, it was an awful sad loss to Bill, but he is real brave about it. He says his father wouldn't know if he didn't take a bath for a month. His father believes in letting Bill grow up independent and develop his own character. That's what he says. Oh, yes, Bill takes a bath real often. I didn't say he didn't."

"Oh, say, mother, do I have to wear them silk stockings and pumps? Why, Bill won't be anywhere around when I start to the party. I don't care if Aunt Julia did give 'em to me. I'd rather she'd given me some leggings or a pair of ice skates. I've got to go to school on Aunt Julia next Saturday. Say, mother, it's awful mean the way my Saturdays go. Bill and me—I mean I and Bill—ain't that right? Well, then, us—we was going to finish the aeroplane and make another model all by ourselves, and now if I've got to go to Aunt Julia's I don't know when I'll have time for anything."

"No, I haven't written to grandpa yet. Of course not. With all them parties and calls on Aunt Julia I don't have a minute to write letters. I guess if grandpa knew how my time was spent he wouldn't expect me to write to thank him for that jackknife. Bill says it's a pretty good knife and he's going to get a man he knows to sharpen it for me. The man used to be his father's hired man when they kept a horse, before Bill was born, and he's such an old friend of the family that he'll do it for nothing. So even if you don't think Bill is a good companion for me, you can see what a valuable friend he is."

"Oh, say, mother, I hate that sissy 'de! I can't wear my old dark blue one? No, I ain't chewing gum. I just happened to have a little in my mouth, but I wasn't chewing it. I never chew it since you told me not to the last time. But I've got a little on hand that I thought I ought to use up, so I just put it in my mouth once in a while."

"Lemme comb my hair myself, mother, I can do it. Say, did you hear that? That's Bill's whistle. Lemme go to the window and holler down that it's all off with the aeroplane work today, for I've got to go to a party."

"Say, mother, what do you think? Bill's all dolled up in a lot of new clothes and he's going to Maybelle's party himself. Wouldn't that freeze you?"—Chicago Daily News.

HEADED OFF BY DIPLOMACY

Kitchener's Smooth Way of Keeping Egyptians From Mixing in Turkish-Italian War.

Egypt is actually a Turkish province, although the British control is so complete and tenacious that the sovereignty of the Sultan is of the most shadowy kind. None the less Turkey has the nominal right to order the Egyptian army to cross the frontier into Tripoli and to help in the discomfiture of the Italian invaders. But although Turkey has wisely refrained from issuing orders that would not be obeyed there has been a desire on the part of many Egyptian officers to volunteer in her cause and these officers have asked Lord Kitchener's permission to absent themselves from their posts for that purpose. Lord Kitchener's reply, quoted in the "Punch" Review, shows a certain satiric humor that must be classified among the finer weapons of diplomacy. He says he would gladly give the desired permission, but he fears that the upward pressure in the junior ranks of the Egyptian army would compel him to place the absentees on the retired list, which would be a grievous return for patriotic valor. He fears that the curbing their heroic ambitions, so natural to Egyptians, and stay at home. "To a number of nominal Bedouins, who made similar applications Lord Kitchener expressed his surprise that they should wish to fight at all. Not having regarded them in the light of warriors, he had never included them in the Egyptian army. He was sorry that should be henceforth corrected in view of their martial inclinations. Thereupon the Bedouins decided that there was no place like home."

THOUGHT SHE DESERVED AID

Mother of Six Fine Babies Glad to Receive Advice of State Board.

Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, some time ago conceived the idea of sending to the mother of every baby reported at the end of every month some educational material from the state board office, together with a police note wishing the mother and child well, and offering to help the mother in any way the board might do so to enable the baby to be started in the best possible way. In reply to one of the communications, Dr. Hurty a few days ago received the following letter:

"I would like to inquire as to the nature of the help you are prepared to do to the mother of six fine, healthy youngsters. I, doubtless shall wish advice, as sixty dollars a month doesn't admit of extensive fees to a physician, and I feel that as a woman who has had a struggle in her life, I give my offspring the mental, physical and moral status which is theirs I should have all the aid possible. "There is not an old soldier, no matter how brave he has fought, but desiring as a faithful wife and mother. I thank you very much for your kind offer."—Indianapolis News.

Dragon Not China's Emblem.

As shown in its prompt repudiation by the republic of China, the dragon is the emblem of the late imperial family of Manchus. This Oriental dragon is one of the powers of the air, all wingless; one of the forces of nature which the Chinese religion has defied. The dragon king dwells partly in water and partly on land; their shrines are for that reason erected on river banks. The germ of the dragon in the primitive races inheres in some persistent memory of the greater lizards, such as the crocodile of the warmer waters. The Chinese dragon being without wings is accordingly closer to type than the winged dragon of the mythology of our more remote and northern race. As late as the "Historia animalium" of Conrad Gessner (1566) science believed that one had but to travel far enough to the more remote defiles of the Alps, and he would surely encounter dragons.

Miles, Long and Short.

Considering the size of Switzerland one might expect a mile to be about as far as one could throw a ball, but the hardy mountaineers think 9,133 yards the proper thing, even when, as it generally is, it is very much uphill. The Swiss is the longest mile of all, being followed by the Vienna post mile of 8,296 yards.

Gathered in Twelve-Pound Trout.

What is said to be the largest trout caught in Montana was taken at the hotel at Armistead. It weighed 13 pounds, 8 ounces. From tip of tail to mouth it measured nearly three feet in length, a yardstick extending an inch at each end when laid beside the catch. It was 16 inches around the fish, measuring over the back fins.

The Cameo Rings

Muriel sat in the twilight, with a small box in her hand, unmindful of the shadows which were beginning to steal into the room. If one could have peeped inside the box one would have seen a cameo ring of a peculiar size. She was thinking of the one who had given it to her eleven years ago.

Just then a light tap at her door aroused her from her reverie, and she sprang to her feet. The box fell from her hand and rolled under the table. "Oh, it's you, Miss Fuller!" she exclaimed, opening the door.

"Yes, it's I," laughed a young voice, and a girl of about 20 came into the room. "And why are you sitting in the dark?"

"I didn't realize it was so late," explained Muriel, as she turned on the light. She stooped to pick up the box, but it had opened and the ring had fallen out.

"That's a peculiar ring," she said, "and a beautiful one."

Muriel's face crimsoned. "Yes, it has a strange setting," she replied. "I've worn it a long time. A very dear friend gave it to me."

"Would you mind telling me about it?" said the girl, softly, and she slipped her arms about the other's neck.

Lola Fuller was a niece of Muriel's landlady, and during the last year had frequently visited her aunt. Muriel had seen quite a lot of the girl, for every young man I had ever seen, it was not long before I grew to admire him.

"Before he returned to the city in the autumn he told me that he loved me. There was no happier girl in the world than I when he put this ring on my finger. He said that it was an heirloom and showed me an other ring which was exactly like it, only a little smaller."

"This he wore on his watch chain. His parents had died when he was a child, and the rings had been left for him. This one was his mother's heirloom, and his father used to wear the other ring, as he himself was doing, on his watch chain."

"The days after this were very bright until Philip was obliged to return home. At first I was lonely, but I tried to comfort myself with the thought that we would not be separated very long, for the following June we were to be married. I grew quite happy again as I made my plans for our new home, but in a few weeks my happiness turned into sorrow. My father was suddenly taken ill, and he died in less than a fortnight. I was left alone. This was a severe blow to me, for I loved my father very dearly. Now I only had Philip left."

"Up to that time he had written me long, loving letters, and it was a cruel shock to me the month following my father's death to pick up a paper and read of his marriage."

When Muriel had finished, Lola was looking very thoughtful. "Are you sure that there wasn't some mistake?" she said.

"Oh, no," answered Muriel, "there wasn't any mistake. I only hope he is happy—without doubt he is, and he probably never gives a thought to the girl he used to know so long ago."

Lola murmured a few words of sympathy and then, after a little while, she left Muriel alone.

One evening, about two weeks afterward, a feeling which Muriel could not define compelled her to again look at the cameo ring. After a little while she slipped it on her finger. At this juncture Lola came up to her room, her eyes sparkling and her cheeks flushed with excitement.

"Auntie has gone out," she said, "and I have a caller downstairs—a cousin of mine. I want you to meet him. You'll come down, won't you?"

As they entered the living room, made bright and cozy by a glowing open fire, Muriel started as a tall, familiar figure stepped toward them. Philip Browning! Could it be possible? Yes, it was he and no other who took her trembling hands in his.

It took her only a few minutes to find out that there had been a mistake after all. It was Philip's brother who had married, and it was through an error of the paper that Philip's name was used.

He told her how pained he was when he recalled the letter he opened, and how he had written after that several times, only to have every letter returned to him in the same way. At last he had been forced to believe that she had married, and he was then that he had gone abroad, and he had returned home only two months ago.

"I owe my good fortune in finding you to Lola," he said, "and he looked around gratefully, but his cousin had slipped from the room."

Among the Browning's possessions there is nothing they prize more than the cameo rings.
